FOOD FOR THOUGHT:

What does it mean to succeed? Most people see success as being rich and famous or powerful and influential. Others see it as being at the top of their profession and standing out from the rest. The wise see success in a more personal way; they see it as achieving the goals they have set for themselves, and then feeling pride and satisfaction in their accomplishments. True success is felt in the heart, not measured by money and power. So be true to yourself and achieve the goals you set. For success is reaching those goals and feeling proud of what you have accomplished. - Tim Tweedie

TIP OF THE MONTH:

I live in an area where we have a lot of festivals and after each one the food vendors leave behind stacks and stacks of plastic stacking bread trays for the trash man to pick up. I looked at them one day and thought, what a great idea for curing soap!!!! They work great and take up very little space. Each rack will hold 2-3 batches of soap and you get great air ventilation on all sides of your bars. The best part, the price is right!!!!
