TIP OF THE MONTH:

At the IGCA convention I picked up a great tip from a friend that I had never thought of before. For those of you who have plastic digital scales... how many times have you spilled fragrance or wax or dye on it? Fragrance oil will start to eat into plastic and ruin the surface of your scale! And we all know how those little grooves are so hard to clean wax out of! So she just slides her scale into a medium sized ziplock bag and uses that as a protective cover! The bag's surface is easy to wipe clean when you spill, and when it gets yucky you just throw it out and put a new one on! Thanks for the great tip Pati!
